

Walking Holiday Barmouth

3 walks and 4 nights accommodation 4th - 8th October 2021

Discover some of the historic lands of Meirionnydd, dating back through centuries - we ancient see tombs, hill forts, stone circles, drover routes, not to mention the breath taking beauty of the landscape. We will also climb to the summit of Diffwyn (750m) and walk the southern part of the Rhinogydd Ridge back to Barmouth. The self-catering accommodation is luxurious with every comfort you need after a walk on the hills and mountains.

Walk Leader: Helen Menhinick (HML) of Bryn Walking

Assistant Walk Leader : Alan Ward (IML)

Accommodation

Goronwy Cottage, formerly two fisherman's cottages, stands on The Rock, with wonderful views. The sandy beach is just ten minutes walk. The property is accessed via a stepped and sloping pathway and although there is no vehicle access, there is a nearby pay and display car park.

This lovely, Grade II listed property is wonderful - retaining many original features whilst having all the comforts needed after a long walk. There is also a handy boot room, providing ample storage for boots and coats. Bedrooms are individually styled with comfy beds and 100% cotton, luxury hotel linen.

This is the perfect place to sit and enjoy sunsets, after a days walking on the surrounding hills.

Walks (all distances approx. and itinerary subject to change if required)

Day 1 Egryn - a moderate linear 10km walk, 453m total ascent. Extensive archaeological remains found here span 5500 years. Taxi to start point.

Day 2 Llyn Irddyn a moderate 11km circular walk, 237m total ascent. We follow part of an old drovers route passing over Pont Scethin and Pont Fadog, Craig y Dinas an impressive iron hill fort and the isolated Llyn Irddyn.

Day 3 Diffwys (750m) a strenuous 16km linear walk, 790m total ascent. A steep climb from Cwm Mynach up to the summit and return along the southernmost Rhinog ridge. Taxi to start point.
